Helping young people find employment

yourtown tackles the issues affecting the lives of young people in Australia.

Our Social Enterprise programs help young people with on-the-job training to build confidence and help prepare them for open employment.

Participants in the program are paid to work on contracted jobs to gain qualifications, skills and work experience. They also receive personal support to address any barriers to employment. The combination of work experience and personal support helps them to find sustainable employment.

When you buy Art Union tickets, your generous support helps fund vital services like Social Enterprises. Together, we can create brighter futures for young people.
