yourtown supporter

Every day, we work with children and young people to find jobs, learn skills, become great parents and live safe happy lives. The demand for our services continues to grow each year. In 2016 alone, children, young people and families made almost 200,000 contacts with yourtown’s helplines and close to 40,000 people accessed our face-to-face services.

Kids contact us about issues such as mental health and wellbeing, bullying, family relationships, domestic violence, and partner relationships.

Without the financial support of the community, the vital services we provide young people would not be possible. That’s why we’re so grateful that you’re considering leaving a gift to yourtown in your Will, after first taking care of the needs of your family. A bequest provides reliable funding to create brighter futures for children and young people for years to come.

Thank you for your generosity.

Make your legacy creating brighter futures for children & young people

A bequest is when you give money or property through your Will. It represents your wishes and intentions, and it's an opportunity to provide for loved ones and charities close to your heart.

Bequests are an enduring way that you can help yourtown create brighter futures for children and young people.

About yourtown

yourtown believes every young person has the right to a brighter future. For over 55 years, we've been tackling the issues impacting young people in Australia – like youth unemployment and mental health, and we take on issues like family and domestic violence.

We aim to be part of the solution by delivering services that get results and offer these at a local and national level. Here's what we do:

- Kids Helpline – we offer Australia's only free, private and confidential counselling service for young people aged 5 to 25. Our counsellors respond to more than 3,400 contacts every week from children and young people seeking information, support or counselling.
- Young Parents – we help parents and carers aged 14 to 25 develop the parenting skills needed to maintain the health and wellbeing of their family and build strong relationships.
- Family Accommodation Services – we provide families with temporary homes and/or domestic violence support.
- Education and re-engagement – we work in close partnership with schools to help young people re-engage in learning, complete school, or transition to further education or work.
- Training and employment – we provide specialised job services for young people, helping them to develop the skills, motivation and attitude to succeed in the workplace.

With our work mostly funded by the community, it's together and by association that we give young people choices. When you leave a gift in your Will to yourtown, you're helping to create brighter futures for children and young people.

How to make a gift in your Will

Thank you for considering leaving a gift in your Will to yourtown. We suggest that you speak to a solicitor to help prepare your Will – they can make sure that it's set up correctly and that the wording of your gift reflects your intention.

Select the type of gift you wish to leave

There are different ways you can make a gift in your Will. One option is to give the residual (the remaining value) of your estate after you have provided for your loved ones. Another approach is to specify a percentage of your estate, or an amount of money or assets.

Please note that we are grateful for any support that you choose to provide – whatever the nature or value of the gift.

Here is some suggested wording for your Will, based on the type of gift you choose to make.

Meet some of our

Dr Anthony Bourke has had a long association with yourtown, in particular supporting our employment programs.

He gives monthly, and has also written a gift into his Will. Dr Bourke explains why he decided to leave a gift in his Will to yourtown.

“Throughout my life journey I have been privileged to live and work in many countries and understand fully the need to educate and give hope to young people. This has also made me appreciate the love and care I received from both my parents.

What impresses me about yourtown is the range of multi-dimensional services they provide and how through a nurturing environment they help turn lives around.

Naturally, I am very proud to be associated with such an inspiring charity and it's why I make regular donations. More recently, I updated my Will and made provision to leave a more substantial bequest to yourtown in support of their wonderful work.

This is my own humble way of continuing to help make a difference to the lives of many young people... and I would encourage others to consider the ultimate gift, of leaving a bequest in their Will to yourtown.”

wonderful supporters

John was another loyal supporter, who left a bequest in his Will.

He had experienced hardship when he was young, so he wanted to empower young people who were doing it tough.

Sadly, in 2016 John passed away, but his legacy continues.

His final gift of property and funds to yourtown provided thousands of young people with the chance of a brighter future.

John's generous gift enabled us to build a stunning prize home in a beautiful location. Many people don't realise that yourtown buys properties that become luxury prize homes for our Art Unions. These raise vital funds for the services we provide, like Kids Helpline.

"He was concerned for those who struggled in life, especially young people. His wish for them was that they be given the opportunity to find their place and live safe, happy lives."

Tracy Adams, yourtown CEO

John's gift will mean that thousands of children and young people can be supported by funds generated from the Art Union.
